TRUCE MAY BE SOUGHT IN COAL STRIKE

Conferences Between Krug And Mine Chief Are Continued In Secrecy

MEETING AGAIN TODAY

Washington, Nov. 14.—(P)—The government today was reported seeking a 60-day "truce" in the nation's strike-threatened soft coal fields while John L. Lewis and the mine owners negotiate a contract to speed release of the federally operated pits.

Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug planned to meet the United Mine Workers' chief again today after two highly secret conferences yesterday.

Tomorrow Lewis may serve notice he intends to terminate the government contract in five days. Almost inevitably, this would lead to a walkout of his 400,000 soft coal diggers on November 20 since the miners do not work without a contract.

While Lewis kept silent, the operators told Krug they were willing to meet with the miners' boss in an effort to avoid a crippling new strike.

Krug was reported by one operator to be seeking a commitment from Lewis to keep the miners working—say for a 60-day period—until agreement can be reached on a private contract that would permit early return of the mines to the operators.

The owners have been serving as mine managers since the government seized the pits in last spring's 59-day strike. Efforts by the operators and miners to come to terms failed at the time. After the government stepped in, Krug made a contract with Lewis which ended the shutdown. Lewis contends that the government breached the agreement by "misinterpretations" of vacation pay provisions and other matters.

Furthermore, Lewis said, there had been changes in government wage policy—hinting at new wage and hour demands. He has not yet made those known.

Krug held brief sessions with five leading operators and with Lewis' group yesterday. The outlook appeared gloomy. As the miners filed out of the conference with Krug they were unusually grim.

In less than an hour Lewis was back in Krug's office alone for an unannounced chat. He appeared in high spirits as he left that time.

Industry Proposes Rent Ceilings Boost

Washington, Nov. 14.—(P)—An industry proposal to boost all rent ceilings 15 per cent at once as a first step to full decontrol drew a promise from OPA officials today of "full and speedy" consideration.

These officials kept mum, however, on any prediction how the decision might go or even when it will be made. They said the issue will go to Price Administrator Paul A. Porter as soon as necessary studies have been completed.

The industry proposal, which offered the first opportunity for an official show-down on demands for rent decontrol, was presented to OPA by the agency's housing rent advisory committee.

The petition asked not only for the higher ceilings, but for immediate removal of rent curbs on new houses or in buildings converted to housing use from other purposes.

MARTIN HOPEFUL OF ENDING 'BEER WAR'

Harrisburg, Nov. 14.—(P)—Governor Martin, seeking to mediate a jurisdictional dispute between CIO and AFL unions at Pittsburgh breweries, received a promise today from the CIO-Brewery Workers' Union to meet with AFL representatives in an effort to end the deadlock.

"The situation is more hopeful," the governor said after conferring for an hour and half with Anthony J. Federoff, CIO regional director and three representatives of the brewing workers.

"I will endeavor to arrange a (joint) conference at the earliest possible date," Martin said.

G. O. P. Steering Committees Meet For First Discussion At Organizing The New Congress

Washington, Nov. 14.—(P)—A thumbnail legislative program embracing a half dozen or fewer promises gained favor among Republicans today as senate and house GOP steering committees met for their first crack at organizing the new congress.

At signs, however, pointed to a long delay in resolving leadership questions, particularly since the house struggle still is raging unabated against a back drop of 1948 presidential politics.

Assembling for separate meetings, the 20 representatives and eight senators who make up the program planning groups were expected to discuss a wide field of prospective legislation in their new role as strategists for the majority party.

But Senator Wallace White of Maine, who may become majority floor leader in his chamber, told a reporter he is urging his colleagues to center their fire on a few major issues.

"I don't think we ought to try to write a party platform such as might be produced by a national convention," he said. "We ought to say what we want to do about a half dozen major issues and not spread our efforts all over the lot. We ought to make promises that we can carry out and then see that they are fulfilled."

Support for White's view came from Senators Revercomb (R-W. Va.) and Ball (R-Minn.). Revercomb called the thumbnail program ideal "a sound approach to the problem of setting up reasonable objectives that can be reached."

Ball suggested Republicans might concentrate in the first months of the 80th congress on three subjects—labor legislation, establishment of what he called a "sound" fiscal policy and the removal of war-time government controls.

Ball is working on several labor bills, including a measure to outlaw the closed shop.

Suspects In Atomic Bomb Case Freed

Baltimore, Nov. 14.—(P)—U. S. Commissioner James K. Cullen today dismissed charges against three former service men the government accused of attempting to peddle unauthorized pictures of atomic bomb equipment.

Cullen, in refusing to hold the three for federal grand jury action, said he did not feel that sufficient evidence had been presented to substantiate the charge.

"I do not know whether such evidence exists," he declared. "The district attorney may still take the case to the grand jury if there is such evidence. I will not frown upon such a move."

U. S. District Attorney J. Bernard Flynn immediately after the hearing he had "no comment" concerning any further government efforts to prosecute the case.

The men, George Comer, 23, and Miles Daubemeyer, 26, of Bel Air, Md., and James Rike, 26, Chattanooga, Tenn., were arrested Oct. 9 when they approached editors of the Baltimore News-Post and offered to sell six pictures for $7,000.

The department of justice said in announcing the arrests the pictures were of the atomic bomb but the army's Manhattan Project said later the photographs showed only "related equipment."

The arrests were made on a tip from News-Post editors who kept the three men engaged in conversation in the paper's news department until the FBI could be notified.

Paring Down Of Armys Under Way

Washington, Nov. 14.—(P)—The army began paring 38,000 men from its ground forces today to stay within President Truman's limit of $8,000,000,000 on war department expenditures for the current fiscal year.

The Second Armored and Third Infantry divisions will be skeletonized along with 54 other units, said Gen. Jacob L. Devers, ground forces commander. Both saw service in the Mediterranean and European theatres during the war.

In announcing the reduction last night, Devers remarked that it is equivalent to about two and a half infantry divisions.

The order came only a few hours after James E. Webb, director of the budget, told the army to dismiss 73,200 civilian workers and the navy 20,200 by January 1.

SCORES HORSE TRADING

Philadelphia, Nov. 14.—(P)—Former Associate Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts asks the United Nations to "cut out this everlasting sovereignty stuff which is nothing more than a cover for burglary." Addressing the Philadelphia Rotary Club, the former justice said yesterday "horse trading" at U. N. meetings is sowing seeds of future conflicts, adding "our only alternative is justice under law. The world should use the measures of government such as now used in the United States."

Gavin Participates In Panel Discussion On 80th Congress

Harrisburg, Nov. 14.—(P)—A new National Labor Relations Law to replace the Wagner Act was urged today by one of Pennsylvania's leading Republican representatives in congress.

U. S. Representative Samuel K. McConnell, of Montgomery county, advocated the action, asserting that "labor-management relations are breaking down and the Republicans have a definite responsibility to restore them."

McConnell, a prominent figure among the commonwealth's big 28-man Republican delegation in the house, made the statement last night at the convention of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican women during a panel discussion of possible future policies of

President To Fly To Florida For Vacation

Washington, Nov. 14.—(P)—President Truman will fly to Florida Sunday for a week's vacation at Key West, the White House announced today.

Mr. Truman will leave Washington at 10 a. m. Sunday, traveling aboard the president's special four-engined plane.

He will arrive at Boca Chica airport at about 4 p. m.

From there he will go by automobile to the naval base at Key West, about a 20-minute drive.

Woman Hacks Neighbor Boy With Hatchet

Mineola, N. Y., Nov. 14.—(P)—A 51-year old mother was charged by police today with luring a three year old boy neighbor into her cellar and madly attacking him with a hatchet and a saw because "he kid got my goat."

The boy, Frank Rubins, Jr., his skull fractured, his body hacked and his left leg and left wrist partly saved through, is near death in South Nassau Communities Hospital, Oceanside.

Mrs. Lottie Woodside, the woman, was charged with first degree assault, Nassau County Assistant District Attorney Frank Gullotta said yesterday in making public the details of the attack which allegedly took place Tuesday. The case was not made known until the woman was booked.

He said Mrs. Woodside, mother of a nine year old boy, had been under treatment for several years for a mental ailment. She was taken to the psychopathic ward at Meadowbrook hospital.

Gullotta said Mrs. Woodside took the boy to the cellar, promising to show him the playroom there. She then fractured his skull and hacked his body with the hatchet, and started to dismember him.

She left the boy unconscious in the cellar, where her son, Robert, found him afterwards. Robert, agreed to talk to his mother, told his father, Charles, who drove the boy to the hospital.

White House Door Open To Sightseers

Washington, Nov. 14.—(P)—White House doors swung open to sightseers today for the first time since Pearl Harbor.

With removal of the wartime ban the public can tour the executive mansion from 10 a. m. until noon, Tuesdays through Saturdays. No sightseers will be admitted on Sundays, Mondays and holidays.

"All comers can see the lower floor and the east room without special arrangement. Cards from a member of congress are required for admittance to the blue and red rooms, the state dining room, the state parlor and other chambers.

In each case, entrance is through the east wing. The presidential offices are in the west wing.

The White House was closed to the general public about a year before this country entered the war. Until Pearl Harbor, however, service men could visit the mansion.

BOYCOTT URGED ON MARCONIO TALK

Wilkes-Barre, Nov. 14.—(P)—Anthrax mine have been urged today to boycott a mass meeting of the Wyoming Valley Peace meeting tonight at which Rep. Vito Marcantonio (AFL-NY) had been a scheduled speaker.

Leonard Statekewicz, president of Loomis local of the United Mine Workers of America (AFL) said "despite denials of those who are arranging the peace meeting, there is no doubt in my mind nor in the minds of our members that the peace meeting is Communist inspired."

In New York City, Bob Schuey, secretary of Marcantonio, said the Wilkes-Barre speaking engagement, a boycott of the meeting "after the congressman's physician advised me that Mr. Marcantonio needs a complete rest for at least two weeks."

Schuey said he did not know of any proposed boycott of the meeting at Wilkes-Barre, adding that he had sent the "congressman's regrets to John Daugher."

Schuey said Marcantonio was at his home on the doctor's advice.

Jailbreaker Eludes Cordon Of Police

Camden, N. J., Nov. 14.—(P)—A fugitive jailbreaker today apparently slipped through a South Jersey cordon of 50 state policemen and armed hunters.

State troopers, believing he escaped possibly in a stolen automobile, abandoned their search of woodlands along Timber Creek in the Bellmawr-Mt. Ephraim area and centered hopes on the fugitive being intercepted by road patrols.

The hunt for the missing fugitive, 22-year-old Jack Smith of Los Angeles, was concentrated in the Timber Creek area after he reappeared at a tourist home last night five minutes after State Policeman George W. Ellis left the scene.

Smith's companion, William E. Effink, 39, Reno, Nev., was apprehended earlier in the day after a wild 12-mile chase over Canaan streets and South Jersey highways.

DISPUTE OVER TRIESTE TEST FORMINISTERS

First - Class Struggle Developing Over Issue Of Who Should Rule Free City

14 RUSSIAN DEMANDS

New York, Nov. 14.—(P)—A first-class struggle was developing in the Foreign Ministers Council today over the issue of who should rule the proposed free city of Trieste. It appeared certain to put to extreme test the mildly conciliatory attitude which has grown up here between Russia and the western powers.

Secretary of State Byrnes and British Foreign Secretary Bevin already were confronted with 14 Russian demands for changes in a Paris peace conference decision that would vest wide powers in a governor responsible to the United Nations Security Council.

Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov, assailing the Paris plan as undemocratic, insisted on limiting the governor's power and shifting more authority into the hands of a popularly elected assembly and a council of government responsible to it.

Molotov declared his amendments to be a "minimum essential" of change in the Paris draft statute for Trieste and when last night's Big-Four session after three hours of argument his list of amendments, totaling 14, was still incomplete. More were due to be laid on the foreign ministers council table today.

Meanwhile Byrnes, Bevin and Deputy French Foreign Minister Couve de Murville were studying their own next moves, evidently to determine which, if any, of Molotov's points they might accept and which they would stand steadfastly against.

Western power diplomats, noting that the Russians had raised much the same arguments at Paris, for saw a strong Anglo-American-French stand for powers which would enable the governor to take "all necessary measures" in event of an uprising in Trieste and if necessary to declare a state of siege.

The western powers likewise were reported strongly opposed to fixing any deadline for the withdrawal of troops from Trieste. Russia argued for a deadline of three or four months.

Molotov began laying down his amendments last night after previously agreeing to a Byrnes proposal that the foreign ministers themselves should go over the Paris-drawn statute paragraph by paragraph rather than farm it out to their subordinates.

Bevin and Byrnes held their fire, for the most part, explaining that they preferred to get an overall picture of the Russian program before they expressed themselves on its individual points.

Reich Camp Black Market Is Broken Up

Frankfurt, Germany, Nov. 14.—(P)—U. S. military police raided a Jewish displaced persons camp yesterday and arrested eight men described by army officials as leaders of one of the biggest black market centers in Germany, operating in the camp.

Lt. Col. Redmond J. Connolly, provost marshal, said the raid followed investigations which indicated that the camp, housing 4,000 homeless Jews, was the center of large-scale black market operations extending throughout the American occupation zone of Germany.

About 50 automobiles, several thousands of dollars in military scrip and forbidden American and English money, as well as hundreds of thousands of German marks were seized during the dawn raid, carried out by 100 white-helmeted, army military policemen and 25 agents of the army's criminal investigation division.

No resistance was encountered and no violence was observed by news correspondents permitted to watch the raid.

Admittedly reluctant to move against the long-suspected camp because of possible criticism or complaints of anti-semitism, army officials took careful precautions to avoid trouble, including the barring of German police from the vicinity and issuance of strict orders to the raiders not to handle camp occupants or enter any buildings forcibly.

CARGO PLANE EQUIPPED WITH RADAR ON FLIGHT

Erie, Nov. 14.—(P)—An American Airlines DC-4 cargo plane, one of the first to make commercial use of radar, took off here yesterday with 19,000 pounds of "zipers" from Talon, Inc., destined for the company's warehouse in San Francisco.

American Airlines officials said their company was the first to use radar, developed during the war, in a commercial plane. The equipment, previously restricted to military use, is on loan from the navy for experimental purposes.

Australia Attacks Russia For Invoking Veto Power

Scene of Fatal School Explosion

Workmen clear wreckage of roof and room which collapsed on children—killing one and injuring 15—in a boiler room blast at Baroda, Mich., consolidated school.

New Schedule Credited With Low Toll In School Blast

Baroda, Mich., Nov. 14.—(P)—School authorities today credited a new schedule which emptied a first floor classroom 10 minutes before a boiler exploded at the consolidated school with holding the toll to one pupil killed and 18 others injured, one critically.

The blast occurred while 260 children were in the school, but most of them were in undamaged sections of the two-story structure.

Walter Ruppel, 13, died less than three hours after the blast.

Alice Johns, 13, was critically injured and hospital attendants described her condition as "poor."

The boiler blew up at 11:40 a. m. Wednesday.

School authorities said that under a changed schedule, a score of pupils in the classroom directly above the boiler had filed out at 11:30 a. m. for a lunch period. Under the former schedule they would have remained in class until noon.

Just above the emptied classroom, a room full of seventh grade pupils was dropped to the basement and buried beneath debris.

Authorities questioned Eldon Nitz, 16, who, according to school Superintendent Howard Walter, was substituting for his janitor uncle who was away.

Nitz said he had received instructions from his uncle on firing the boiler. He said he was not in the boiler room when the blast occurred and "didn't know what happened."

The youth was not held and Prosecutor Karl Zick said there would be no criminal inquest.

Six Killed In Explosion At Columbia

Columbia, S. C., Nov. 14.—(P)—A terrific gas explosion shattered a Columbia curb market wholesale building today, causing six deaths and injuring at least three other persons, according to police.

Hospital attendants listed three of the dead as N. W. Wessell, operator of the produce company using the building, Arlie Cant, of nearby Pelton, and J. A. Abernathy.

Gantt was reported to have been fatally injured by flying debris as he sat in his parked truck across the street, about 30 feet from the building.

The explosion was heard for blocks around. Window panes were shattered and building foundations shaken over a wide area.

Firemen said the blast originated in the N. W. Wessells wholesale produce building, where a gas appliance was being used in ripening bananas.

The one-story frame structure, about 100 feet by 20 feet, was shattered. How many persons were inside was not immediately known.

Ambulances rushed ten or 12 injured to hospitals. Firemen and police began digging into the wreckage to ascertain if any one else was buried in the rubble.

Guffey Will Ask Retirement Pay

Washington, Nov. 14.—(P)—Twenty-two year old J. Roland Kinzer, of Lancaster, Pa., Republican representative in congress since 1930, has filed application for $3,500 annual retirement pay for which he is eligible under the congressional reorganization act.

Kinzer was not a candidate for re-election.

U. S. Senator Joseph P. Guffey, Pittsburgh Democrat, says he intends to file for retirement benefits. Guffey, now 70, and defeated by Governor Martin for re-election to a third term, has until Jan. 2 to file. By contributing $2,716 he would be eligible to draw $2,652 annually. If he paid in $6,147, covering his full 12 years of service, he would get $3,000 a year.

MYSTERY GIRL SISTER MAIN MAN DECLARES

Houlton, Me., Nov. 14.—(P)—A Maine man claimed to have identified New Jersey's "Miss Question Mark" as his sister, but today there arose a new mystery—what had become of the pretty blonde?

Brooks Atkinson of nearby Cary, who studied the girl's picture in Sheriff Jasper Lyette's office yesterday and said there was "no doubt" but that she was Betty Jean Atkinson, 20. He added he didn't know her present whereabouts.

She left home in September, he told Lyette, to seek work in Florida and presumed she had continued her trip after she was discharged from the Bergen county jail at Hackensack, N. J., last Friday.

DEBATE OVER VITAL ISSUE IN COMMITTEE

Complete Review of Section Providing Single Vote to Block Decisions is Requested

PROPOSALS OFFERED

Lake Success, N. Y., Nov. 14.—(P)—Australia today attacked the Soviet Union for invoking the big power veto 10 times and said these acts have "stultified" the work of the United Nations security council. He said that these Russian actions undermined confidence in the council and lessened its ability to deal effectively with matters before it.

Leading off debate on the explosive issue in the general assembly's 51-nation political committee, Delegate Paul Hasluck of Australia called for complete review of the veto section which gives Russia, Great Britain, the United States, France and China the right to block any major decision with a single veto.

"The plain and rather ugly fact that a permanent member has claimed successfully that he can select at will those resolutions on which he wishes to exercise the veto, and in doing so, the form and content of the resolutions are of less concern to him than his own opinion of what some fellow member of the council has meant or might mean by making such proposals," Hasluck said.

Under the charter the permanent members may veto any substantive question but not one of procedure, and Hasluck directed much of his attack against repeated insistence of the Russians that they had the right to determine which matters were substantive and which procedural.

The world's small powers meet the big powers today in a battle to restrict, if not abolish, the veto in the United Nations Security Council.

The scene of the battle is the powerful U. N. political committee where U. S. Senator Tom Connally (D-Tex.), chairman of the senate foreign relations committee and an American delegate to the United Nations, prepared to offer a proposal which might be acceptable to the small powers.

Billed as the biggest fight of the present assembly session, the veto issue—long a sore spot with the small nations—heads into its first major airing since the big five were given their extraordinary power at San Francisco.

Before the committee are two proposals. One is by Australia, requesting a complete review of the veto question by the assembly. The other is a Cuban demand for outright abolition of the veto.

Over 400 Killed In Temblors In Peru

Lima, Peru, Nov. 14.—(P)—At least 410 persons were reported today to have lost their lives in a series of earthquakes which began in Peru last Sunday and have crippled communications and caused widespread devastation.

The ministry of the interior said that Conchucos, a town of 4,400 inhabitants north of Lima, was apparently the hardest hit. Three hundred persons were killed and 250 injured there.

Silmas, a town of 11,540, was reported completely destroyed. So far 40 bodies have been taken from the debris. Thirty fatalities were reported at Pomabamba.

Newspaper casualty lists included 50 men killed in the Conchucos, but it was not known if these deaths were due to a mine cave-in.

Since the first shock struck Sunday afternoon, 52 minor shocks have been felt, according to reports from the interior.

Los Angeles Mops Up After Record Early-Season Storms

By the Associated Press
Los Angeles began mopping up operations today after one of the worst early-season southern California storms on record, and army rescue teams continued their mercy treks in the Denver, Colorado area.

Specially trained army vessel crews, flown in from Chicago drove their tracked vehicles through isolated and snow blocked country roads to bring sick persons to medical centers. American Red Cross emergency field headquarters were established at Rush, Colo., east of Colorado Springs.

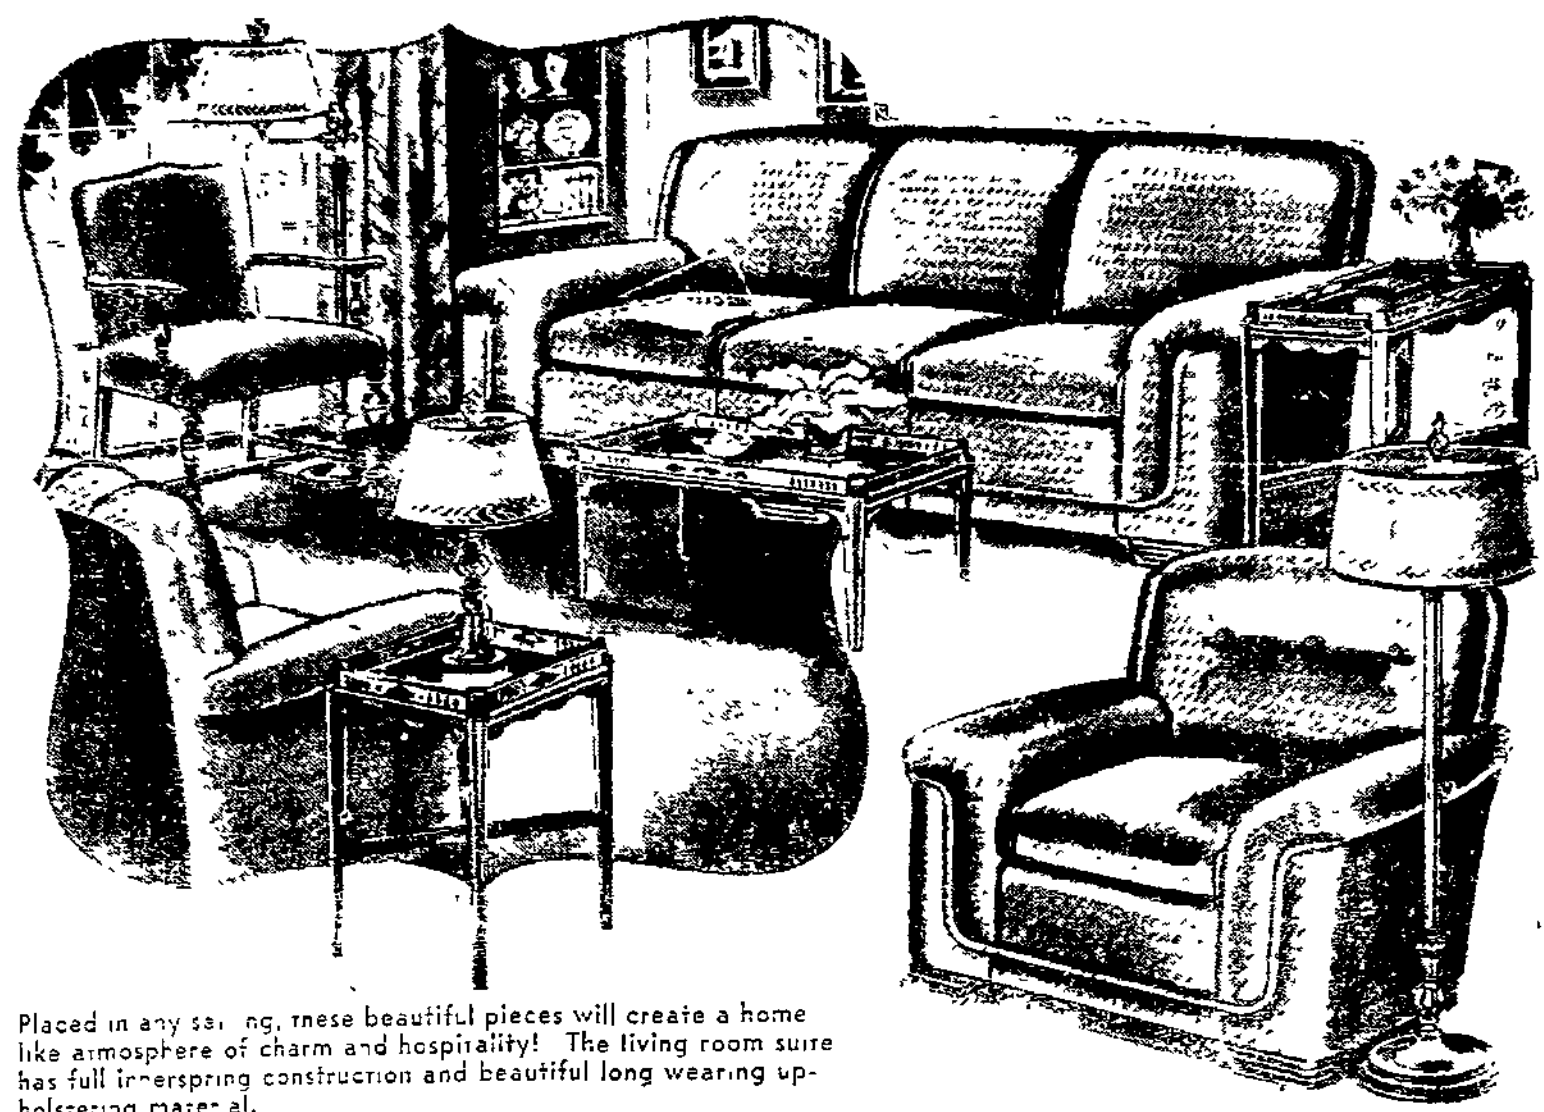

Generally speaking, however, Blue Skies and fair weather prevailed over the United States east of the Rocky Mountains, aiding firefighters dropping cottonseed cake feed to marooned herds of western cattle in the Denver snow area.

Although weather bureau forecasters said the storm center which struck Los Angeles had moved into Nevada, Los Angeles again was soaked early today by heavy rain accompanied by brilliant lightning. Hail fell in Hollywood, and snow covered Beverly Boulevard for a short time until it was melted by rain.

The Los Angeles area death total rose to two. In addition 11 persons were missing in a long overdue air liner.

Forecasters, looking ahead toward the weekend, said a cold air mass now in northwest Canada would hit the plains states and warned citizens to be sure to have anti-freeze in their car radiators.

Plenty of Meat and Speed On Glassport Football Team

There is no beef shortage on the line of the Glassport Football team which will be in Warren next Sunday to take on the Red Jack-ets. The lightest man on the vis-iting team weighs 165 and the heaviest boy 230 and as the ad-vance notices say "every man is a speedster". In fact the biggest boy in the line-up is a real light-foot when it comes to covering ground.

All the backfield is heavy, aver-aging over 180 pounds. This weight coupled with the beef on the line betokens a busy afternoon for the Warren aggregation. One of the stars on the team is Cotterack, guard, who played his football with the West Virginia Mountaineers and shown brightly there. Har-rison, big, husky 230 pound tackle is another tower of strength in the line at tackle and he was a fixture on the Iowa State university team for three years.

Reports from the Allegheny County Sun Telegraph league are to the effect that the Glassport team is tied with the Stove Rox Cadets for the league lead. This evidences some football playing as the teams in the league all would offer the Jackets stiff opposition and run ragged over the Buffalo league teams. The Rox Cadets will be remembered here as the Rox Rooneys, who were on the Red Jackets for years and always pro-vided plenty of disturbance for the Jackets on their appearances here. To be teamed with them for league leadership evidences the brand of ball played by the Glass-port team.

The game will start promptly at 2 p. m. Sunday afternoon and it will get away on the dot as during the past couple of Sundays the low-ering skies made the ball a little hard to follow for the spectators. Sunday's game will be one of the best of the season and should hit a new high in attendance. With the weather getting cooler the feeling of "real football weather" prevades the community and all surround-ing towns will send big delega-tions.

Word is expected soon that the contract proffered the Creighton Tigers for a game on Sunday, Nov. 24 has been accepted. The Tigers have clawed their way over a flock of the Pittsburgh area teams and will bring with them some real stars in the football firmament.

Indications are that the season will close in a burst of excitement as seemingly the schedule makers have held back the cream of teams until the end of the season.

Foremen Will Have Meeting Monday Night

A program of training films will be shown at this month's supper meeting of the Warren Foremen's Club, to be held in the Y. M. C. A. club rooms next Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock.

The sound pictures to be shown were carefully and specially se-lected to provide an hour of in-teresting and helpful instruction for all men in supervisory posi-tions. The film titles, which follow, reveal the appropriateness and direct interest of these pictures for members of the Foremen's Club:

"Introducing the New Worker to His Job", "Safety in the Shop", "Supervising Workers on the Job", "Maintaining Quality Stand-ards", "Tree in a Test Tube".

Following the dinner and pre-ceding the motion pictures some special entertainment is promised by Chris Pepke, the chairman of this phase of the program. Presi-dent Ernest Rockhill will preside, and will have some interesting an-nouncements to make regarding future programs.

Reservations for the dinner due in the "Y" office no later than Friday of this week.

I. C. S. Mentioned In Important Biographies

Recent popular biographies of two outstanding Americans men-tion the International Correspondence Schools, says L. E. John-son, Warren representative of the school.

One is Kenneth S. Davis' book "Soldier of Democracy," the biog-raphy of General Dwight Eisen-hower.

The other is Hans Christian Ad-amsen's biography "Eddie Ricken-backer." Adamsen was one of the men who survived with Ricken-backer those gruelling days on a life raft in the Pacific when Ricken-backer was on a secret mission for the armed forces.

The Rickenbacker mention oc-curs on page 61, when Adamsen writes: "He was on the point of giving up when he heard about a mail-order college in Scranton, Pennsylvania, called the Interna-tional Correspondence Schools. Again he wrote, hoping against hope that he might find his long-sought automotive course. A let-ter came. The answer was, 'Yes!' The International Correspondence Schools had what he wanted, and he enrolled immediately for the only printed and prepared home study course in automotive engi-neering available at that time. It cost some sixty dollars, but stud-ents could pay on time. The length of the course was a year."

It was Dwight Eisenhower's father who is an alumnus of the I. C. S. as Kenneth Davis tells on page 50 of his book on the Gen-eral. Dwight is one of six sons of neer." The father, David, endeav-ored to increase his meager earn-ings by gaining a better knowl-edge of stationary engineering be-tween 1900 and 1904, but as Davis outlines, the wage scale offer for a creamery engineer was at that time about a hundred dollars a month and the family was raised in strict frugality.

SUGAR GROVE

Sugar Grove, Nov. 12.—Mr. and Mrs. Zimmerman, of Erie, were weekend guests of Rev. and Mrs. Chayter, and spoke at the services at the Free Methodist church on Sunday. They are returned mis-sionaries from Africa and Sunday evening Mr. Zimmerman gave a very interesting talk on their work in Africa. They also showed costumes from that coun-try.

The recently elected officers of the Free Methodist Sunday school, are: Superintendent, Mrs. Carl Norbeck; assistant superintendent, Mrs. Theodore Allen; secre-tary, Doris Norbeck; treasurer, Mrs. Victor Landin; librarian, Mrs. Russell Gustafson; temper-ance secretary, Adactus Hilldale; missionary secretary, Mrs. Martin Prodelius; cradle roll superintend-ent, Mrs. Allen.

The teachers are: Adults, Vic-tor Landin; young people, Arlene Hilldale; intermediate, George Chaker; juniors, Miss Mabel Reese; primary, Mrs. Adactus Hill-dale; beginners, Mrs. Crayter.

There will be no prayer meeting Wednesday night as members of the congregation will attend the Holiness convention in Warren.

The annual Thanksgiving ser-vice will be held in the Free Meth-odist church, Wednesday evening, November 27, with the district superintendent, D. M. Thomas, of Union City, delivering the sermon. The Sugar Grove Reading Club will meet Tuesday evening, No-vember 19th, at the home of Mrs. Grant, with Miss Anne Langdon giving a talk about her work as a teacher of speech in Seattle, Wash.

TURKEY DINNER PROSPECTS

Turkey and all the fixin's will be in plentiful supply for Pennsylvanians on Thanksgiving, two weeks from today.

So says the state agriculture department in reporting the 1946 turkey crop of 1,536,000 birds as second only to the all-time record production of 1,670,000 last year.

As for the fixin's—from cranberry sauce to pumpkin pie—the outlook is equally bright.

The nation's cranberry crop of more than 500,000 barrels is more than last year and the biggest harvest since 1937. Pumpkins, onions, potatoes, sweet corn, grown in large quantities this year in Pennsylvania, the department says.

A department official points out that orders should be placed early for those who want to make certain they get a Pennsylvania-grown turkey for Thanksgiving.

"Lack of cold weather to date means that some late-started birds have been slow to put on that extra weight which gives them 'finish' for higher quality," he adds.

If the warm weather continues, he explains, many growers will be tempted to hold their birds for marketing during the Christmas season and later.

However, this will be the first year since the beginning of the war that everyone will have an opportunity to buy turkeys since army requirements in war years took large quantities of western birds.

While there was a big demand for poultry during September, it has fallen off since red meat once more has become plentiful, the department declares.

Pennsylvania this year ranks eighth in the nation in turkey production and first among states east of the Mississippi. National production is estimated at more than 41,000,000 birds compared with nearly 45,000,000 last year.

MUST SEEK URANIUM

Dispatches of a 4,000-man naval expedition with 300 scientists to Antarctica makes it obvious that the United States is at last taking seriously the possibilities of that vast area which explorers have hardly touched.

Although it is described officially as a training project, there is a great deal more involved. When the navy sent a task force into the Arctic it was a navy proposition, assigned to naval problems. The Byrd expedition, considering that its manpower is spread over 12 ships, evidently is more of an operational project, with the navy assigned to plant a scientific colony and feed it with information.

Antarctica, which has had a few narrow lines drawn across its vast face by previous expeditions, is to be criss-crossed by carrier planes equipped with all sorts of scientific detectors. Not only the contours are to be mapped, but more particularly what lies under them.

Admiral Byrd has denied that this is a search for uranium, but of course won't pass up any if he comes across it.

SCHOOL MEETING DISAPPOINTING

Considering the agitation that has been apparent for weeks among taxpayers and school patrons over the evaluation report which is being completed, and was discussed in part last evening, the interest and attendance at the American Education Week meeting at the high school was disappointingly small.

Not over one hundred citizens took advantage of the opportunity to visit the school, inspect the class rooms, chat with teachers, and hear the evaluation report reviewed. Many of those who appeared early were not sufficiently interested to remain for the program and discussion.

This is quite a contrast from a story in the Bradford Era which states that more than 1200 mothers and fathers of pupils in schools of that city saw special classes reenacted in observance of the Week Wednesday night

Sen. Wherry, of Nebraska is advocating the removal of all rent and other controls by the government. He feels after due observation of conditions nationally that state laws will prevent gouging of renters and that housing would be speeded if the government took its finger out of the pie. Guess the Senator has something there. The sooner all controls are scrapped the better for all concerned except the several thousand administrators, clerks and flunkies on the pay rolls.

YEARS AGO IN WARREN
Interesting Items Taken From The Warren Evening Times

In 1926
The cold nights of Wednesday and Thursday have ruined the apples and other fruits still on the trees in this section. Farm Agent Reist estimates that the apple crop of spoiled fruit will total into the thousands of bushels. One orchard, north of Akely, having about 200 bushels of good apples still on the trees.

The New York Central station on Fourth avenue is receiving a new coat of two-tone green paint by the company's painters. The signal lights in front, too, will be painted, and the work adds a more lively touch to the drab surroundings.

The paving on the east side of Liberty street between Second and Third avenues will be completed this afternoon. The contractors have been greatly handicapped by the weather, but if it remains dry for a few days, the entire street will be opened.

"Heinie" Anderson accounted for 70 yards in one run in the Scholastic-Catholic Prep game yesterday, but despite his heads up play, the Warren thrust was stalled on the Prep 3 yard line and the Erie boys came out a 12-0 winner.

In 1936
Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Larson, Myrtle street, will be pleased to know they have arrived in St. Petersburg, Fla., and are located at 1922 Seminole Blvd., South.

Miss Edith Brown, of Cambridge, Massachusetts, representing the Lux Laboratories addressed a general assembly of Warren High school girls this afternoon, giving a talk on the care of the skin, discussing its particularly from the viewpoint of personal appearance and appreciation of textiles.

Something new in local football circles, a doubleheader, will be presented at Russell Field Saturday afternoon when the Warren High gridders take on both Sheffield and Youngville in one afternoon. The two games will be played one after the other.

The Sheffield High school Wolverines, playing their last home game of the season, went down to defeat yesterday afternoon before one of the "toughest" Youngville High school teams that ever engaged in combat with a local team.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP

By JANE EADS
WASHINGTON—Now the women of the nation can tell the manufacturers what they want for their families in the way of quality, durability, usefulness and beauty.

Some of us have been asking for changes, but the American Home Economics Association points out our voices have not reached all manufacturers and retailers. "partly because not enough other voices have chimed in."

In order to see that the women are heard, the association has developed a project known as "The Consumer Speaks." It has just come out with its first reports—what qualities more than 11,000 women, from coast to coast, want in household dresses.

The project will cover reports on other items as it goes along. It was begun in 1944-45 with a sampling of consumers' desires as to several articles of food and clothing.

Inspired by the response, the association added household equipment to the list. This year home furnishings are included.

Lelia Massey, executive secretary of the association, says that groups which have participated in "The Consumer Speaks" program are connected with the Parent Teachers Association, the American Association of University Women, State Federations of Women's Clubs, local home economics groups, Farm Security Groups, adult education classes and college home economics student clubs.

"With vast sums of money to spend, a nation-wide demand, and business ready to provide the merchandise," Miss Massey says, "America now has the requisites for higher standards of living, more satisfying home life and industrial and economic expansion."

She declares that "The Consumer Speaks" project, the largest nation-wide consumer participation program the association has ever achieved, can be an effective means for gaining these ends.

More than 9,000 women have already registered their votes on the food studies (bread and meat). About 7,000 votes were cast on various items of household equipment.

THE report on house dresses is the first to be made public.

The 11,577 women who voluntarily participated in this phase of the project want manufacturers to use the money now spent on frill trimming to provide such features as colorfastness, minimum shrinkage, substantial weave, dresses easy to wash and iron, durable fastenings, roominess in the right places for work activity, and easily understood size markings.

The association's consumer-interests committee is asking consumer groups to concentrate discussion on the following articles for future reports:

Washing machines, cooking utensils, refrigerators, irons, brooms, straight chairs, blouses, coats, hats, shoes, suits, towels, pre-school boys, towels, wool winter coats with fur trimming, wool skirts, sweaters, meat, bread, fluid milk, milk, evaporated milk.

WHAT IT MEANS

By MAX HALL
WASHINGTON—The main quarrel in the strike of merchant marine officers was over "union security." This term was a new one to some people.

Union security means anything in a contract between a union and an employer which makes a union secure, or protects its position in the plant.

Union security at its strongest requires a company to employ only members of the union. But there are all sorts of variations—things like the closed shop, union shop, maintenance of membership and checkoff.

Labor leaders argue for more union security on the ground that all workers who share the benefits of the contract ought to share the costs and obligations of the union.

Many employers have opposed union security because they feared they would lose the right to choose their own workers.

Here are the most common types of union security:

1. Union Recognition—This is about the mildest form. The employer agrees to recognize the union as the exclusive bargaining agency for all the employees covered by the contract. Most contracts begin with a clause of this kind.

2. Closed Shop—You can't work in the plant unless you belong to the union. The employer agrees to hire only union members and to fire anyone who loses his good standing in the union. Sometimes the union itself recruits the workers, as in the case of merchant seamen furnished through union "hiring halls."

3. Union Shop—Identical with the closed shop except that the employer is free to hire non-union workers, provided they join the union in order to keep their jobs.

4. Maintenance of Membership—Nobody is forced to join the union. But if he joins voluntarily a man must remain a member for the duration of the contract or be fired. There is usually an "escape clause" at the beginning of each new contract, during which present members may resign from the union if they want to.

5. Checkoff—The employer agrees to collect union dues by deducting the money from pay checks and turning it over to the union. In some contracts the company agrees to the checkoff for all workers under the contract; in others, for only those workers who request it.

6. Preferential Hiring—The employer agrees to give hiring preference to union members. If no union member is available for the job, the employer is free to hire anyone he pleases. The preferential principle is also extended to layoffs. Non-union workers are laid off first and union men kept as long as possible.

7. Encouragement of Membership—The employer agrees to encourage non-union workers to join up.

These forms of union security, and others, are used in a great many variations and combinations.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics estimates 13,800,000 workers were covered by written agreements last year and that 77 percent, or 10,600,000 workers, were working under union security provisions. In one form or another these required union membership as a condition of hiring or continued employment, or both.

NEW YORK — When a bawdy mist of a comedy called "School for Brides" opened here last season, it was notable for very little except the brunette beauty of a young lady among the minor principals, a Miss Yolande Donlan, who had the wolves among the first nighters scurrying around trying to scrape up an introduction. Their hopes were dashed quickly. Miss D. was, and is, a happily married gal, in private life the wife of Phil Truex, son of the famous actor, Ernest Truex.

This domestic brand of hopeful gawling on the part of New York's males now will have a British branch, for Miss Donlan has been tapped to play the lead in the London version of "Born Yesterday."

Until recently she had been understudying Eleanor Lynn, who has the lead in the road company of the Garson Kanin hit.

OUTSIDE of the attentions of the few first night wolves, Yolande was to put it most favorably, a very obscure actress. Despite her appearance in "School for Brides," and a lengthy Chicago run in "Good Night Ladies," another blintz which managed to keep right on playing successfully despite being one of the least admirable comedies of any season, Yolande wasn't doing much for her career. While she had the sort of figure Schiaparelli likes to drape with costly piece goods, her dramatics weren't getting much past the basic point.

Yolande, just like every other young Broadway aspirant, went about managers' offices, auditioning, reading scripts, hoping, indulging in heavy theatrical conversation in Sardi's and Louis Bergen's 45th Street saloon and hangout for the theatrically active. One day, in a routine visit, she auditioned for the lead role in the touring "Born Yesterday."

Garson Kanin, the author of the comedy, gave Yolande some encouragement by hiring her for a meager role in the touring version. This was not exactly the feather she had hoped for in Yolande's mind, but being the official understudy there always was the possibility that some painless but definite accident might befall Eleanor Lynn, so she pinned her hopes on some sudden miracle.

The miracle came almost immediately. Miss Lynn took sick the first Saturday morning in Boston, and Yolande was rushed into the role without even the help of a company rehearsal. But she had been up on her part for days, and did so well that Garson Kanin and his wife, Ruth Gordon, immediately started raving that here was a real talent.

LAURENCE OLIVIER, who will produce and direct the London version, telephoned Kanin for help. After listening to Kanin's enthusiastic summation of her capabilities, Olivier made the deal for her services, sight unseen.

"I predict Miss Donlan will score the biggest hit an American actress has made in London in many years," Kanin happily asserted. "She's really a find."

held December 13 at the community house.

Edson Skinner, who is employed by Ruel Smith, sawmill operator of Russell, received a broken clock Thursday afternoon when several logs let loose from a load of logs he was unloading, hit him and threw him into the mill pond.

He was taken to the Warren General hospital for emergency treatment. X-rays were taken Friday morning and later he was taken to his home. A cast will be applied as soon as the swelling subsides enough to be set.

Mr. and Mrs. Edson Skinner have purchased the former Charles Skinner homestead which was recently owned by Gordon Meade. Ruel Smith of Russell has purchased the farm owned by Mr. and Mrs. Skinner.

The Young Peoples Sunday school class which is taught by Mrs. Wendell Burgett gathered scrap paper, Thursday evening, following which they enjoyed a weiner roast in the club rooms at the community house. Sixteen members and friends were present.

Youth Rally At Youngsville Friday Night

Rev. E. Stanley Watkins will be the speaker for a special youth rally to be held at 7:30 p. m. Friday at the Free Methodist church in Youngsville.

The Youngsville Society is acting as host to the young people from the entire Oil City Conference, an area including a large part of the state. Rev. Watkins, who is from Seattle, Wash., holds the office of western regional director in the Western People's Missionary Society of the Free Methodist denomination. This being his fourth year in that office he has had a wide experience in youth work. He directs work of the conferences west of the Mississippi river, but has also traveled in Canada and in the south.

The young people of the Oil City Conference feel privileged to have Rev. and Mrs. Watkins with them for this rally, to which all interested are cordially invited.

Mary E. Deardorff Is Saturday Bride In Home Ceremony

A beautiful wedding took place Saturday evening, when Walter Gifford Hayward, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. W. G. Hayward of Bittersweet by the Lake, Jamestown, married Miss Mary Elizabeth Deardorff, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Henry Deardorff, of Warren at their home. The double ring ceremony was performed at 8:30 o'clock by the Rev. Harold C. Warren of the Presbyterian Church, in the presence of about 50 members of the immediate families and intimate friends.

The service took place at an archway to the sunporch, banked in mountain laurel foliage against a background of palms with graceful tall baskets of white chrysanthemums at either side, lighted by cathedral candles in torchieres. The wedding music was played by the bride's aunt, Mrs. E. M. Bell, at the piano.

The bridesmaid was Miss Helen Stanley, a nursing school classmate, gown in coral wool with gold nailheads, and a nosegay of same branch orchids and orange blossoms. Dr. Hayward was best man for his son.

The lovely bride, given in marriage by her father, wore ivory duvetyne brocaded in gold nailheads. She carried an exquisite Colonial bridal nosegay of orchids and purple violets with orange blossoms in a lace frill.

Her mother chose black crepe brocaded in gold beads, and Mrs. Hayward, royal blue crepe accented in silver brocade, both with corsage bouquets of gardenias and sweetheart roses. A family dinner preceded the marriage at the Woman's Club, covers for 20. White chrysanthemums and lighted cathedral candles in silver candelabra formed a beautiful setting.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayward will reside in Buffalo, where he is taking his pre-medical work at the Millard Fillmore College, and the bride will be graduated in February from the Millard Fillmore Hospital School of Nursing. For travel the bride wore a chocolate brown belted suit with beige topcoat trimmed in mink. She was educated at the Harcum School in Philadelphia.

Mr. Hayward was graduated from the Benue Port High School before enlisting in the Marine Corps, in which he served for four years during the war, with 30 months in the Pacific theatre as a sergeant.

Local Girl Bride Of Corry Soldier In Church Service

Corry Journal—Floral arrangements of white chrysanthemums and red roses decorated the altar at St. Thomas' church for a nuptial high mass at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning. Rev. Francis J. Graves was celebrant of the mass which united Miss Veronica Pauline Malec, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Malec of Warren, and Pfc. Arthur A. McQuiston, son of Mrs. Ethel McQuiston of 609 East street. Mrs. James Wharton was the organist and she sang two numbers, "On This Day, Oh Beautiful Mother" and "Ave Maria Stella."

Mr. Malec escorted his daughter, who was beautiful in a lovely gown of white shimmer satin fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, long sleeves and a full skirt with a long court train. The gown had a beaded neckline and the front of the bodice had an attractive beaded panel. From her beaded crown depended a full length net veil edged with lace. The bridal bouquet was made of white roses centered with a white orchid corsage. Her only jewelry was a double strand pearl necklace, a gift from the groom.

Mrs. Floyd Coy, sister of the groom, served as matron of honor, and she appeared in a pink taffeta gown made with sweetheart neckline, short puff sleeves and a full skirt. In her hair she wore a band of flowers with a matching shoulder length veil. Her bouquet was of pink and white roses. The bridesmaids were Miss Ann Bacha and Miss Margaret Motuz who wore gowns similar to the matron of honor in aqua and shoulder length veils to match their dresses. They carried bouquets of yellow roses. Miss Annette Price, niece of the groom, was flower girl and she had a white taffeta gown and carried a nosegay of white pom-poms and red roses.

Chester Malec, brother of the bride, was best man for Pfc. McQuiston and George McQuiston and Benjamin Malec ushers.

A reception for two hundred was held at St. Edwards hall with decorations in pink, aqua and white with white wedding bells. The bride's table was centered with a beautifully decorated four tiered wedding cake.

Mrs. McQuiston wore a two piece aqua dress with black accessories and an orchid corsage for her going away outfit. The newlyweds honeymooned at Niagara Falls.

Mrs. McQuiston attended the Youngsville High School and was formerly employed in this city by the Aero Supply. Pfc. McQuiston is graduate of the Union City High School with the 1944 class and was employed at the Corry-Jamestown Mfg. Corp. prior to entering the Army last April. He is at present stationed at Camp Polk, La. Mrs. McQuiston will reside in Warren with her parents.

Out of town guests attended the wedding from New York City, Bayonne, N. J., Warren, Erie, Union City, Youngsville, Cleveland and Johnsonburg.

James Jewelry Store One Of Beaty

The James Jewelry store on Second avenue is one of the finest stores that has been opened in Warren in many years. With a most attractive front of Cararra glass with a handsome neon sign it is eye compelling and draws many shoppers. The interior of the store in blonde woods and handsome glittering show cases displaying a line of exquisite jewel treasures is most attractive and the store is enjoying a large trade. Mr. and Mrs. James Muzza, of Niagara Falls are owners and operators of the store. Mr. Muzza has been identified with the jewelry trade for over 20 years and selected Warren as a home after careful investigation of the city and its people. With two sons of High School age they are purchasing a home here and will become citizens of the growing community. They have already made a host of friends and will be good citizens.

SOCIETY

Sub-District Meet
WSCS at Russell

The Woman's Society of Christian Service sub-district meeting was held on November 8 in the Russell Methodist church, Mrs. L. W. Garber presiding. The following societies were represented: Barnes, Clarendon, Lander, Russell, Sheffield, Sugar Grove, Warren First, Epworth and Grace churches.

Mrs. Ernest Beckwith, president of the Russell society, gave a cordial welcome to the group. Devotions in the morning were conducted by the Rev. Philip Schlick, and in the afternoon, by Mrs. Carlton Foss.

Important topics of the day were "Stewardship of Life," presented by Miss Pearl Lund, and "The Problem of Alcoholism" by Mrs. Emma Secor. Miss Carrie Kenyon spoke most interestingly of her long term of service in Malaya and of her recent work in Cuba.

Other features of the program were a question period conducted by Mrs. O. L. Winger, and a display of literature presented by Mrs. John Walters. Music consisted of a duet by Ruth and Marion Mills, and a piano solo by Mrs. Eleanor Ludwick. Arthur Buggs, accompanied by the Rev. Schlick, gave a violin solo, "Ave Maria."

The group voted to hold another work-shop meeting in the spring, and an invitation was extended by Sugar Grove for this meeting on April 18.

Bazaar of 1946
Opening Today,
Woman's Club

The stage was all set and everything in its place for the opening of the Woman's Club bazaar of 1946 at two o'clock this afternoon. Each booth was dressed in its best bib and tucker, awaiting arrival of the first visitors.

The Woman's Club bazaar has become a popular "must" on the local calendar and the people who have been in attendance previously look forward to this event with keen anticipation. Through the combined talents of many clever committee chairman and their workers, this bazaar is always a superb spectacle.

It is of interest to learn that the bazaar is to include an exhibition, for sale, of oil paintings done by Miss Marie Oleson, of Old Deerfield, Mass. Miss Oleson has been an occasional visitor in Warren, being the daughter of the late James F. Oleson, who spent part of his boyhood here. At the time of his death Mr. Oleson was the Danish ambassador to China.

Another item of more than usual interest is the beautifully

Personal Paragraphs

Dr. J. F. Crane, of North Warren, left today for Washington, D. C., where he expects to visit until next Tuesday.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Dunham over the weekend were their daughter, Elizabeth, of Hackensack, N. J.; their son, Dallas, Olean, N. Y., and Mr. Dunham's sister, Olive Jordan.

Social Events

MOTHER'S STUDY CLUB
HAS INTERESTING MEET

The Young Mother's Study Club heard a very interesting talk on rheumatic fever by Dr. J. T. Valone at their November meeting held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Weston Easworth. Dr. Valone answered clearly many questions asked by club members regarding the disease that averages 170,000 cases each year in our country. Prior to the program, Mrs. John Miner presided at the business meeting. The used clothing collection was discussed, and it was decided that anyone having articles should bring them to Everett's Hardware Store before November 25.

After the program, refreshments were served by the committee, Mrs. Easworth, Mrs. M. G. Thomas and Mrs. William Moore.

TRUTH SEEKERS
HAVE FINE PROGRAM

Fifty-four members attended the meeting of the Truth Seekers Class of Grace Methodist church Tuesday evening. "Ye Olde Time Program" being the theme of the evening, the ladies came dressed in the costumes of the Gay Nineties. Following the business session, Nell Johnson extended an invitation to the group to join her in looking through the "Old Family Album". As the pages were turned, a description of each picture was given. The following posed for these pictures, amid peals of laughter: Mary Hertz, Edna Kyler, Mary Hildum, Elizabeth Templeton, Ruth Amacher, Mary Knudsen, Mary Cogswell, Margaret Carlson, Hazel Samuelson, Vada Kyler. Music for the occasion was furnished by Helen, Kathryn Joy, Edis Johnson, Dorothy Nelson, with Jeannette Silze as accompanist. As the album was closed, pictures of the various groups were taken by Bernard Joy and Russell Templeton.

At the close of the evening, refreshments were served by Marion Adams and her committee, with the table attractively set in the style of the Gay Nineties.

CHURCH REVIVALS

AT PITTSFIELD UNITED BRETHREN
A series of revival meetings will begin in the Pittsfield United Brethren church on Monday evening, November 18, with Rev. S. R. Parrett, of Degolia, bring the message. Services will be at 7:30 o'clock each evening.

AT SHEFFIELD FREE METHODIST
Revival meetings are in progress and will continue each evening of next week, starting at 7:30 o'clock, in Sheffield Free Methodist church. Singing and the preaching of the simple, old fashioned gospel truths feature these services, to which the public is cordially invited.

PAK Thanksgiving Dinner - Dance Scheduled For Saturday, November 30

The topic receiving most interest on the part of PAK members these days are developments for PAK's Annual Thanksgiving dinner-dance scheduled for Saturday, November 30th.

It has just been learned that Paul Harris, Junior, of Putney, Vermont, will be the speaker. In bringing Mr. Harris to Warren, PAK feels that it is affording the boys and girls of Warren an exceptional opportunity, because Mr. Harris is one of the outstanding speakers of the day. He has lived and traveled in fifteen European countries as well as in South America; has done work in three universities; has been head-line speaker for three consecutive years at the Y. M. C. A.'s Hi-Y International Convention, the only speaker so honored.

Arrangements call for the dinner program to be held in Founders Hall at First Methodist church, with a dancing party to follow at the Y. W. C. A. PAK is covering the expense of the speaker, leaving the dinner and dance expense to be paid for by admissions of members. And in order to reduce this expense, so that every member may be able to attend this exceptional program, PAK members are soliciting donations of small sums and in appreciation will tender a "Musical" to those donors on Sunday afternoon, November 23rd at First Presbyterian church at four o'clock. This program will include the PAK choir, the girls sextette and a new boy's octette, as well as several instrumental numbers including a saxophone quartette and a clarinet quartette being rehearsal by Harry Summers. Mrs. Robert Beatty is in charge of this program and will direct the choir.

Young people of Westfield, New York, will attend this dinner-dance program under the leadership of the Reverend G. A. Gaiser, First Methodist church of that city. This group recently visited PAK's "Church of Tomorrow" program in their own bus bringing 35 members to Warren.

Because this program is such an exceptional opportunity for youth of Warren, the dinner-dance will be available to any boy or girl of high school age who desires to come, whether they are PAK members or not. Admissions and dinner reservations may be obtained from PAK's dinner committee, or from the offices of the churches sponsoring PAK—First Presbyterian, Trinity Memorial or First Methodist.

Girl Scouts Of Sugar Grove Are Party Hostesses

Sugar Grove, Nov. 13—Sugar Grove Girl Scouts entertained in the gymnasium Friday night with a folk dance party. Guests were 16 boys, parents, teachers, and others interested and connected with the Girl Scout movement.

The girls had made programs in the form of trefoils, using the colors of green and yellow. The program included the grand march, the six Swedish folk dances taught the girls by Mrs. Alice Peterson of Gellerton. American folk dances and an original dance made up by the girls. Mrs. Gerald Miller provided the music.

Mrs. R. S. Cumming gave a talk about the work being done by the girls and presented badges for folk dancing to the 14 members of the troupe. Marguerite Stohlberg had arranged a table exhibiting her collection of articles from Sweden, for which she received a credit in badge work.

Martha Grant was presented with her first class badge, making her the first class Girl Scout in Sugar Grove to receive this rating.

Second class badges were presented to Marguerite Stohlberg, Carlene Davis and Suzanne Wright. All members of the troupe now have received this rating.

Drawing and painting badges were awarded Shirley and Barbara Sheppard, Geraldine Miller and Martha Grant. A musician's badge went to Shirley Sheppard; cyclist and camp craft badges to Geraldine Miller and Martha Grant; boating and horse craft badges to Martha Grant.

Miss Illajean Feldmiller assisted the girls in serving iced cocoa and cookies to their guests.

Chitester-Zeliff Rites Announced

Youngsville, Nov. 13—A pretty home wedding was solemnized in the presence of the immediate families on Saturday, November 9th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Zeliff, of Bates street, when their daughter, Betty Jo, became the bride of E. Wayne Chitester, Jr., son of Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Chitester of Youngsville. Rev. Mr. Chitester performed the ceremony.

The only attendants were Miss Carol Ann Zeliff, sister of the bride, and John Chitester, brother of the groom. The home was attractive with chrysanthemums, used in decoration.

A lovely buffet luncheon was served at noon to over 20 guests, after which the couple left for a short wedding trip. The groom was recently discharged from the navy, where he served three years overseas. The bride is a graduate of Youngsville High School and attended Lock Haven Teachers College.

Mr. and Mrs. Chitester will reside in Youngsville until January, when they will leave for Chicago, where Mr. Chitester will continue his education at the De Forest School of Electronics.

Simones - Carlson Rite at St. Paul's On Sat. Afternoon

On Saturday, November 9, St. Paul's church was the setting for the late fall wedding of Miss Louise Carlson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Carlson, Jamestown, Pa., and Paul W. Simones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Christ Simones, Warren Rd. 3. Rev. Nore Gustafson performed the ceremony at 2 p. m. in the presence of approximately 200 guests.

The altar was banked with palms and baskets of multi-colored pom-poms. Music was played by Mrs. Emil Jacobson, church organist, and James Cruickshank, uncle of the bride, sang three beautiful solos before the ceremony: "I Love You Truly," "Because" and "Oh Promise Me."

The maid of honor was the bride's sister, Miss Evelyn Carlson, in aqua net and carrying an arm bouquet of yellow roses tied with matching satin ribbon. Bridesmaids were Miss Patricia Leade, Clarendon, gown in pink tulle and carrying yellow roses with blue satin ties, and Miss Patricia Lawson, Jamestown, in yellow tulle, with matching ribbon or her yellow roses. The little flower girl was Miss Judith Lynn Callenburgh, cousin of the bride, who wore a white silk floor length gown made by the bride's sister from material which the father brought from Japan; also white slippers and a small gold cross given her by the bride. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink rosebuds.

The best man was Francis Nelson, and ushers were William Yeaple and Robert Mattis.

The bride was escorted and given in marriage by her father. Her gown of white tulle and net had a sweetheart neckline in a fitted bodice, and long sleeves pointed over the hands. The net skirt started at the hipline and developed into a graceful train. Her fingertip veil was edged with lace and fell from a crystal-beaded crown, and her single strand of pearls was a gift from the bridegroom. Her arm bouquet of white roses and pom-poms was tied with satin ribbon.

The bride's mother chose a black silk dress with black and gold accessories, and wore a corsage of yellow roses. The mother of the bridegroom wore aqua wool with black accessories and corsage of pink roses. The grandmother of the bridegroom wore pink roses with black.

A reception for about 150 guests was held in the church parlors immediately following the ceremony. The bride's table was beautifully decorated in silver and white, with a four-tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom in the center. Aides were Mrs. Edwin Carlson, Miss Harriet Carlson, Mrs. Robert Carlson, Mrs. Sven Anderson, Mrs. Bertha Rosequist, Mrs. James Cruickshank and Mrs. Martha Callenburgh, aunts of the bride, seated.

The couple left on a short trip to Buffalo, the bride traveling in a gray pin stripe suit, with black and white accessories and corsage of white roses. They will be at home, upon their return, at 107 North Carver street.

The bride is a graduate of Warren High School, class of 1943, and was employed as secretary to the traffic manager of the Art Metal Construction Company of Jamestown. The bridegroom received his honorable discharge last December after serving approximately four years in the navy, 25 months of which were spent in the Pacific theatre. He is employed by the Warren Tank Car Company.

A party for the bridal party and friends was held at the Callenburgh home, South street, following the rehearsal Friday evening.

Out of town guests for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Gust Hagstrom and Miss Rose McKain, of Oil City; Mr. and Mrs. H. F. McKain, Franklin; Mr. and Mrs. Ted Austin, Warren, O.

Youngsville BPW Hears Address On "Mental Diseases"

Youngsville, Nov. 14—Members of the Youngsville Business and Professional Woman's Club, meeting this week with Mrs. R. L. Mead at her home on College street, enjoyed a most interesting address by Dr. Robert Israel, superintendent of the Warren State Hospital.

Dr. Israel's subject was "Mental Diseases". He said in brief, that mental diseases as in most diseases early treatment was imperative. He gave illustrations to show the great improvement now found in the treatment of the majority of mental ailments, particularly when the treatment began in the early stages. There is also now a much larger percentage of permanent cures than formerly.

Mrs. Ruby Ransom, the president, conducted a business session in which plans were made for the Christmas party to be held in December with the committee Mrs. Rose Hubert, Miss Gertrude Ostroski and Mrs. Ruby Ransom. Plans were also made for a candy and fruit cake sale to be Friday and Saturday at the Woodnell Store.

Mrs. Nellie Anderson read a very interesting letter from a lady in Finland who had received and appreciated articles sent from the Youngsville Club.

Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Paul Getts and Mrs. Wave Carlson.

A Sketch About a Tea

Y. W. C. A.'s in north-western Pennsylvania have the privilege this week of having Miss Mildred Owen, of the national foreign division, visit them. Miss Owen has already visited the associations in Oil City, Titusville and Meadville as they observed the annual Week of Prayer and World Fellowship. Today she is in Bradford, Friday she will be in Kane and Saturday she comes to Warren. Board members and world fellowship committee members will meet at 11:30 a. m. for lunch with Miss Owen. Those who are particularly interested in the world work of the Y. W. C. A. and wish to be a part of the luncheon group are welcome and are asked to phone Miss Mary Church, executive director at 450. The world fellowship tea will be at three o'clock and special music will be provided by Miss Alfreda Laugerquist, accompanied by Mrs. Emil Jacobson. Mrs. Carl Lundahl, president of the local Y. W. C. A., will open the meeting and the speaker will be introduced by Mrs. Robert Trusler, chairman of the world fellowship committee. Mrs. Robert Young will lead the group in prayer and Carol Wale and Jo Ann Finley, of the High School Girls' Club, will serve as ushers. A silver offering will be taken for Warren's gift to the world work of the Y. W. C. A.

Education Week Gives Insight Into Local School Work

National Education Week is being observed in the Warren Schools this week and all of the schools have endeavored to present to visitors the various features of the school work. Last evening the High School was open and the public had been invited to visit the class rooms and later to attend a meeting in the auditorium. Only about 100 attended the gathering and made an inspection of the school and remained for the meeting.

The feature of the meeting held in the auditorium was the presentation of the report made by a group of instructors who spent some time in Warren several months ago. They made a study of the schools, the teachers, building, facilities, etc. The report is not complete as yet and it is not expected that the complete file on the report will be received until after the first of the new year. Floyd Bathurst gave the report and made some comment on various features.

Ruth Kaebnick, 106 Canton street, read an essay as the group and it was well received.

At the McClintock and Johnson schools this evening open house will be observed and all parents are urged to visit the schools, meet the teachers and become acquainted with the work done. At the Lacy school visiting hours are being observed throughout the entire week with a special program on the evening of November 19 in conjunction with the PTA meeting held on that date.

Yesterday the Home and Seneca street schools held visiting days and many patrons visited the schools.

Girl Scouts Outline Plan For Nut Sale

With visions of a new fireplace dancing through their heads, the Girl Scouts and Brownies of Warren and Warren county, are entering into the sale of salted nuts with great enthusiasm.

Members of the committee from Council visited towns in the county Monday evening delivering the order books to the troop leaders and outlining plans for the sale. This evening troop leaders are meeting here in the borough when they will receive the same equipment and instructions. These salted mixed nuts when delivered, will be strictly fresh packaged nuts and will be delivered as soon as a sizeable order is received by the committee. Misses will make a delicious treat for Thanksgiving or Christmas and purchasers will be highly pleased with the quality and price. Many repeat orders have been received.

The Girl Scouts and Brownies hope this project in the interest of Camp Birdsell-Edey will be heartily received and the proceeds sufficient to make the fireplace a reality.

PAST MATRONS ARE HONORED

Youngsville, Nov. 14—At the last meeting of the Youngsville Chapter of the Eastern Star, all past matrons present were honored including one each from Bradford, Sharon and Warren.

After receiving honor in the regular session, these past matrons were seated at a special table during the social hour. Autumn flowers were used in decoration of this table and each past matron received a corsage.

Youngsville Worthy Matron, Frances Cable also presented each with a very dainty hand made gift.

Those responsible for the pleasant social hour enjoyed by all present were Mesdames Vivian Smith, Hazel Stillings, Carrie Crull, Jennie Anderson, Gladys Danielson, Frances Lawrence, Dora Hutley and Lulu Shattuck.

WOMEN OF MOOSE HAVE ANNIVERSARY

Senior Regent Jennie Lauffenberger was in charge of the regular meeting of Warren Chapter, 893, Women of the Moose, held Wednesday evening. Dinner at six o'clock marked formation of the local chapter 24 years ago November 3. Among those present were six charter members, seven Friendship members, two College Regents and ten Alumni members.

Special guest of the evening was Mrs. Florence Langhans of Port Allegany. A towel shower was held for Mooseheart, and awards for the evening went to Mrs. Langhans and Mary Brown.

A social hour was enjoyed in the afternoon by friends and members.

BEREAN CLASS

Manhattan Street Scene Is Recounted By Correspondent

New York.—(P)—It was 2 a. m., at the crossroads of nightlife in Greenwich village.

A tall young man, his clothing swayed drunkenly in the middle of the sidewalk. A short stocky man bumped against him in passing.

"Tryin' to start somp'n," said the tall man and swung his fist into the short ones face.

And with no more words they clashed savagely and in silence. Fists thudded against chins, and then they were both down on the sidewalk, tearing and kicking each other.

Neither went for the face then. They tried for the groin with knuckles, knees and feet, swirling over and other in tangled fury. There was no sound but grunts and the impact of flesh against flesh. They were both young men, well-matched in strength and agility.

A crowd gathered slowly and watched impartially. No one thought at first of interfering: In crowded New York people don't like to stick their nose in other people's quarrels.

Finally a woman began to scream:

"Stop them somebody. They're hitting below the belt."

The men in the crowd shuffled their feet and looked around, each waiting for his neighbor to do something. There was no policeman in sight. One man started forward hesitantly but his wife grabbed him and yelled in terror: "Abe! Abe! don't get mixed up in it!"

She pulled him back. Everybody looked again at the two panting men on the sidewalk. A taxi drew up and stopped. The cabbie watched the fight philosophically.

"Veterans," he said. "Both of them. I can tell the veterans every time."

The tall man was slowly beginning to tire. Liquor had dulled and slowed him. The short man methodically worked him into position. He brought his knee up hard once, twice, three times. A look of agony came over the face of the tall man. He lay contorted and pain paralyzed.

The short man warily straddled him. He took the helpless tall man's head between his hands and leisurely pounded it against the sidewalk. It sounded like coconuts falling off a peddler's wagon.

When the tall man went limp, the short one turned the head sideways and deliberately rubbed it back and forth on the concrete until one side was a red pulp.

No one in the crowd protested. Some women turned their eyes away for a second, but looked again.

The short man, winded but satisfied, rose slowly to tired feet. His beaten foe came to and wobbled upright. Shredded skin hung from his bloody face.

"C'mon, I'll buy you a drink," he mumbled to the short man. They headed for a bar, walking slowly on legs shaky with fatigue. The crowd began to ebb away.

"They both hit below the belt," said the indignant lady.

"I knew they was veterans," said the cabbie, admiringly. "No body but veterans fight like that."

Lawmaker at 21

Probably the youngest legislator in the country is 21-year-old Robert Bock, above, of Macks-ville, Kans. A Kansas University student, he was too young to vote in the August primary, reached his majority in September and ran for office on the Democratic ticket. Campaigning on a repeal plank in dry Kansas, he won over his Republican rival in the recent election.

IF THE financial support and offers of voluntary service exceed the requirements, Mrs. Stuart-Alexander says another children's sanctuary will be opened elsewhere and another 50 children will be provided for.

"It is the policy of the Stateless Children's Sanctuary, Inc. to limit the numbers of staff and children to 15 and 50 respectively in each sanctuary," she says. "Such proportions will insure individual attention for the children."

Save All Waste Fats

VIC FLINT By MICHAEL O'MALLEY and RALPH LANE

On a table in the TWOSPOT'S cabin I picked up a crudely carved head with one ear sliced off.

HMM. RATHER NEAT LIKENESS, BUBBLE. BUT I LOOK LOPSIDED WITH ONLY ONE EAR.

YOUR TWIN BROTHER, SHIV, WAS HANDY WITH A KNIFE, TOO. WASN'T HE, BUBBLE?

WHAT'S THAT NOISE?

CRASH!

A WATER TANK, EH?

THIS TANK MUST HOLD A LOT OF WATER, BUBBLE. YOU COULD EVEN TAKE AN OCCASIONAL BATH IN IT.

I NEVER KNEW YOU TOUCHED THE STUFF, BUBBLE.

Bubble had reached the boiling point. There was an ominous silence in the TWOSPOT'S cabin.

WELL, CHIEF, I'VE SEEN ALL I WANT. SHALL WE GO?

I NEVER HEARD WATER IN A TANK GO "CLINK" BEFORE, MR. FLINT?

PROBABLY HARD WATER, CHIEF?

THEY'RE GONE, JEAN, BUT THEY'LL BE BACK!

ONE OF THEM WON'T BUBBLE. I'M GONNA FIX THAT WHEATHEAD FLINT JUST LIKE WE FIXED CLIP ULT?

Queen Mother in Rare Appearance

Youngsville Legion Now In New Home

Members of the Halgren-Wilcox Post of the American Legion at Youngsville are now in their new home which was purchased some weeks ago and which has been extensively remodeled. The Youngsville Post is one of the most progressive in the county and during its lifetime has sponsored a number of civic movements all of which have aided in the betterment of the town.

The stucco building, known to everyone in the town has been put in excellent condition as a home for the Post and it provides a meeting place, social rooms and has plenty of space for gatherings of the organization. During the coming winter a number of new furnishings will be added and several special events are planned.

Today in the Times-Mirror an advertisement appears sponsored by 45 friends of the Halgren-Wilcox Post extending congratulations to the organization on securing a new and well equipped home.

SUGAR GROVE

Sugar Grove, Nov. 10—The Sugar Grove American Legion Post and the Women's Auxiliary attended service at the Methodist church Sunday morning, Armistice Sunday. The choir provided special music and Rev. Carleton Foss, delivered the sermon using as his subject "Americanism: What Is It?" Mr. Foss and Melvin Rein, pastor of the Presbyterian church, also took part in the service.

The regular monthly meeting of the WCTU, was held at the home of Mrs. Victor Landin, Friday afternoon. Mrs. Mabel Dallas presided. A part of the business meeting was the annual dues paying. Twelve members, four guests and two children were present. Mrs. John Mahan conducted the devotions.

Mrs. Dallas gave a fine report of the state convention held at York, in October. Beverly Beck and Coral Muntz were present and read their prize winning essays.

The next meeting will be the Christmas Party at the home of Mrs. Nell Scott in December. The interesting meeting concluded with the serving of refreshments by the hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Seaman and sons Charles and Howard, of Greensburg, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McIntosh.

Mr. McIntosh has returned to his employment as rural carrier after several weeks illness. Mrs. Charles Barrett, and Mrs. C. L. Veness, are guests of relatives in Buffalo, N. Y., and Ridgeway, Ont.

Donald Conklin of Hamburg, N. Y., was the weekend guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Conklin.

Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Mickleson spent the weekend with their daughter, Miss Phyllis Mickleson at Rochester, N. Y.

CORYDON

Corydon, Nov. 11—There were fourteen present at the Ladies' Aid Society gathering held at the home of Mrs. Rubie Day. Block piecing and a social time furnished diversion. The usual supper luncheon concluded the affair. From away attending were the Rev. and Mrs. F. W. Shope, Kinzua, Mrs. Mary Campbell, Salamanca, Mrs. William Guthery, of California.

Miss Mollie Pickering, new Home Economics Extension representative of Warren county conducted an organization meeting here recently at the home of Mrs. Paul Duntley. Five attended. Decision was made to meet every other Monday at 1:30 o'clock beginning November 1, for the remodeling of clothes, the first gathering to be held with Mrs. Edna Tome. One all day session is planned later for the purpose of furniture repair.

In the recent passing of Arthur R. Fair, Corydon feels the loss of a fine citizen. Mr. Fair's code of Christianity was being always good and kind and helpful and community folks privileged to know and enjoy his friendship feel richly blest.

Without Painful Backache
Many sufferers believe that backache is a result of their kidneys. The kidneys are the body's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.
When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's pills, a reliable diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's gives happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Be among the first to take advantage of this great Pre-Holiday Sale, which includes a great many scarce items.

The 'America' Is a Civilian Again

The S. S. America moves up the North River escorted by jubilant fireboats, and back-dropped by the skyline of New York City, on its way to re-entry into peacetime passenger service. The United States liner had been reconverted at Newport News, Va., from wartime transport service to its old luxury appointments. It's due to sail soon for Ireland and England.

Court Directs Cellar Treasure Hunt

When Joe Bizjak, of Cleveland, Ohio, was divorced recently by his wife, Jennie, he asked that he be given the contents of the cellar of the cafe Jennie owns. She, thinking only of the pile of trash there, agreed. Pressed by the judge, Bizjak finally declared he had buried $14,000 there. Despite Jennie's scoffing at the idea, the court granted Joe six months to find the treasure under court supervision. Above, Paul McDewitt, bailiff, starts to dig for the money, as Mrs. Bizjak points to spot where she found paper bags of silver coins.

Yesterday Is Nowhere

By BEATRICE MUIR

Chapter 1:

FOR a minute he stood pressing his hand to his eyes trying to remember some of the plays but he wasn't a good enough player for that. But he knew that in every deal from Franz he won. There was no use puzzling at it now, neither must he repeat over and over the words of that letter, nor dwell on the secretive cunning in the General's eyes.

One thing certain, the General was not a friend of Steiner's. But he mustn't count on that, must count on nothing but himself. Now that he'd met Von Beck all he wanted was to get out before something happened. After changing he sat down for a final smoke. Siegmund stationed himself for night guard; a little later he heard the General's car go down the driveway, then Conrad and Steiner came upstairs together. Silence settled over the house. He finished his pipe, then switched off the light and catwalked to the closet.

Even before he looked down he was aware that he was not alone, but still it was a shock seeing her there on the floor, his foot barely left an imprint from her limp fingers. For a second he thought she was dead. He knelt down prepared to clasp his hand over her mouth if she made a noise on waking. Gently he shook her shoulder.

"Stephanie," he felt her hair on the back of his hand as her head lolled to one side. Her eyes opened startled.

"Silence," he whispered. Gradually the light softened away so that he could see himself in her large pupils. Her shrugging smile went straight to his heart.

"Such a silly thing to do," she whispered.

"What on earth are you doing here?"

"I brought the hat and coat."

"Oh Stephanie! All he felt was in his voice, humbleness, admiration and reproach. She made an aimless gesture.

"I didn't intend to get trapped. Siegmund came with the wood before I could get away, he booted the door."

"He's out there now. You'll have to stay till morning."

"I know. I could beat myself for letting it happen."

A thought struck him. "What if Steiner goes to your room?"

"He will not." Unthinking, she said it too quickly to hide her meaning. She flushed slightly and avoided his eyes.

Without knowing why he felt illogically pleased as he sat back against the opposite wall.

"You can sleep in the bed."

"I'd rather stay in here."

"You'll be more comfortable in bed."

"Let me stay here. I wouldn't close my eyes for fear Siegmund might open the door."

He pointed to the ceiling. "I've got to work, some of the stuff will fall on you."

"Please," she pleaded. "I don't want to be alone in there."

"Then I'll bring the quilt." He stood looking down at her.

"You're wonderful to do this."

"I wish I hadn't been so slow!"

"Let's not worry." He switched off the light and made his way to the bed for the quilt and a pillow. Back again he folded the quilt on the floor for her to sit on. She smiled when he put the pillow behind her.

"This is comfort supreme."

"I'm afraid you'll feel cramped in a few hours here. I'll put my greatcoat over you, it's chilly in here." As her eyes smiled up at him he held his breath because it made him think of Freya. But why, when there was all the shades of difference between them as night and day. It was remarkable, he must think of it some time when he had time to think. He bowed like the general. "You will now witness an amateur plaster cutting performance... but it will not be much of a pleasure, this plaster dust is worse than sand for getting in your eyes and down your back. After this every time I look at a ceiling I'll feel woe. You ought to have something over your hair... here." He plopped his hat on her head and grinned at her. "You look like a high school girl up on a blanket party."

That slow smile of her, in her eyes before it curved her lips, intrigued him. He wished he could draw her out, break down her amiable reserve. But there was no time. He felt cheated of something. Silently he balanced himself on the shelves and began to pry the plaster loose.

STEADILY he worked, when he glanced down she smiled encouragingly at him. When his fingers and arms began to ache he called the grim menace in the General's eyes and added strength to him. But finally, lest the knife drop from his numb fingers, he stopped for a rest, sitting down opposite her, rubbing her wrists.

"You're straining yourself," she whispered.

"I must get out."

"But how soon?"

"The sooner the better." He could see the flatness of his voice startled her.

"Did something happen in the library?"

"Yes."

"The General? Or...?"

"Yes, the General," he hurried, his reply so that she needn't mention Steiner. When he was with her he didn't like to think of Steiner.

"Where will you go?"

"To Freya first."

"Please let me talk to Freya before you break out."

He searched her face, then shook his head. "I'd rather have had nothing more to do with it... it mustn't concern you any more."

Her head snapped up. "You don't understand, everything concerns me, even your escape. It's no good to run away," she added without emotion, "unless you run fast enough."

"I intend to run fast." His face was hard and grim.

Both of them sat still. He thought of the long way ahead to safety. For a minute freedom was a thing never to be lived to the full again. Already he knew what had been lost could never be regained in its unquestioned simplicity. Always his living would be shadowed by the remembrance of these last days, by the strange feeling that something of himself was left behind in this house with Conrad and Stephanie. But he had to go. He had to live.

LUDLOW

Ludlow, Nov. 13.—Regular services were held in Moriah on Sunday with the sermon title being "The Path of Faith" which was delivered by the Rev. Hans Pearson. The anthem, "My Hope Is Built On Nothing Less" by Bradbury was given by a women's chorus. Announcement was made of the annual church drive which will begin next week. The Upsala chapel drive will be conducted at the same time by the same people. Swedish services were held at 4 o'clock.

The Covenant Mission held morning services at 11 o'clock with Rev. Earl Robbins of Kane giving the sermon.

The Covenant Mission also held prayer services on Wednesday evening with the Rev. Earl Robbins of Kane officiating.

The Young Women's Missionary Society entertained on Thursday evening at a special program given in the church for the Post War Emergency Fund. The program was entitled "We Thank God That Peace Has Come To The World—We Must Help Provide Good Will". The program was dedicated to the men and women who served or are serving in the service of our country. The Post War Fund exists to promote World

High School Art Display At the Library

A fine display of art may now be seen in the Wetmore Gallery at the library. It consists of oil paintings, pastels, and pen and ink drawings done entirely by Mrs. Lawrence's art classes. The exhibit was arranged by Mrs. Hoffman.

In the exhibit is an eye-catching collection of book plates, each one done by a different student. It is expected that many parents and students will visit the gallery in the following week. Visiting hours are from 10:00 to 5:00 and 7:00 to 9:00.

The directors hope that this will be the first in a series of displays of local artist's talent.

This display is in connection with Book Week, November 11-18.

Chapter 18

STEPHANIE described Freya's house. "In the river valley, to the north. You can see it from the crest of the hill."

"Is that long avenue of beech trees still there?" Her eyes widened.

"You know!"

"She told me once, years ago, about the trees."

"They are there."

"Then I can't possibly get lost."

"No."

"That side door," he asked, "is it locked?"

"There's an inside latch. I'll see that it's kept off during the day... but if you'd only let me know it would be safer."

Gently he smiled. "Please don't be offended that I insist on doing it so."

"Oh, I'm not offended. I want to be sure you get away quickly."

"I better get to work," he mumbled hoarsely.

Endless hours, with her face glimmering in front of his eyes as he cut; sunshine on snow and her hair flowing back in the wind. After tomorrow he might never see her again.

At intervals he switched off the light and opened the closet door for a fresh supply of air. Once more he sat down beside her to rest but they didn't talk. When he finished night had already yielded her eastern border. A farrow twittered under the eaves.

"You ought to go to bed now," urged Stephanie. He was glad she didn't suspect how much a few hours sleep might mean.

"I don't like to shut you up here. Will your maid go to your room in the morning?"

"Her face was gravely amused. "I have no maid, only Joseph and we have a pact—if I don't ring he lets me sleep, sometimes I sleep till noon."

"Why," he asked suddenly, "have you been ill Stephanie?"

She was amazed. "That's a funny thing to ask." If she could only see the shadows under her eyes, he thought, she wouldn't think it funny. Sometimes it makes the days seem shorter, less monotonous.

She shrugged a little, again came to half smile he had begun to look for. "Sometimes one gets a vindictive pleasure in staying abed, deliberately ignoring one's present circumstances."

"I've never tried it."

"Try it now. I don't worry about me, I feel lucky."

"You simply must be lucky, it's so necessary—like when I pinched this dinner-knife."

She smiled. "Give it to me, I'll put it back."

It was still warm from his hand, the kind of earthy warmth that makes death seem so improbable.

"Good night," she said.

Suddenly he was kneeling beside her. She felt the warm lightness of his lips on her cheek.

"Thanks for everything," he said rising. For a second he looked into her long, unfathomable grey eyes, then he switched off the light.

IN the morning Niel woke abruptly, feeling that all was not well. He looked at his watch. It was seven o'clock. Breakfast downstairs was at eight but Steiner and Conrad, according to Stephanie, always went down earlier. So at seven thirty he'd run the bath water and under cover of the noise break as many lathes as possible then he'd ask Siegmund to take him downstairs to breakfast. It was a safe bet Siegmund would go down first to ask permission. While he was gone he'd break the remaining lathes. Noiselessly he got up and opened the closet door! Stephanie was standing up, flexing her arms.

"How do you feel?" he whispered.

"Like a tea-cup."

"It'll soon be over. I'm going to ask Siegmund to take me down to breakfast... I'll dress now."

She was so pale he left the door open a little in spite of her protests. He dressed quickly and made up the bed to prevent Siegmund from finding out he was in cause to enter the closet. He heard both Steiner and Conrad say good morning to Siegmund on their way downstairs. He never forget how sweet those good mornings sounded. Then he turned on the bath taps to their noisiest gauge and hurried to the closet.

"Stand back Stephanie," he said without further ado, "then against the wall where the plaster won't fall on you."

The first lath was the worst. It sounded like a crack of doom followed by her sharp gasp.

"Do you think he heard?" Sweat was on his lip. "Tiptoe outside the door and listen to the next one." After the second lath was broken she came in, her face beaming.

"He couldn't possibly hear."

"He grinned. "It's just our guilt conscience."

He broke five lathes, the belted to shut off the water in tip-toed back in a hurry. He wanted to laugh. He thought some of the boys would like to see me fitting around like a bloody housefly. Before the water stopped he broke three, leaving five to go.

"Now I'll invite myself down to breakfast." He brushed plaster off his shoulder.

"It's in your hair too... bend down a little." He knew he was going to kiss her but he bent down anyway and the minute she stopped brushing he put his hand behind her head and kissed her.

"That's all right," he said, "because I like the kind of person you are." She gave him a long look, then smiled.

When Siegmund left the door unlocked on their way downstairs he thought that Stephanie must be under special dispensation in heaven.

Anderson, and treasurer, Mrs. Bertel Carlson. Refreshments were served after a social hour.

Mrs. Oscar Mortenson entertained on Thursday evening at a birthday dinner which honored her son, Gordon, who celebrated his twelfth birthday with twelve guests present.

Mrs. Evert Johnson entertained on Saturday afternoon, November 2, at a party for her small daughter, Judy, who celebrated her fourth birthday with seven youngsters present as well as other relatives and friends. The little guests included Geraldine Nyström, Sandra Connelly, Elizabeth Ann and Nancy Waite, Johnny Cox, Natalie Giffert, and Carol Ann Ralston. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Homer Holt of Akron, Mrs. Roland Christenson, Mr. Harold Christenson, and Mr. Eugene Johnson of Kane.

The afternoon was spent in games after which the birthday supper with all of its trimming and opening of gifts climaxed the afternoon's excitement.

HIGH SCHOOL FIGURES TO CT. 1ST OUT

For those who have long wondered about the financial standing of the High School Athletic Association and have criticized the oil board for not giving out figures and also never bothered to find out for themselves, these figures have been obtained through a five minute interview with Superintendent of Borough Schools, John G. Rossman.

It is discovered that the Association brought forward a balance of $524.18 on the first of the month. Through the three months up to October first, the Association has realized the gross receipts of $2056.20 or a total of $2580.38 with the brought forward balance of $1333.08 leaving a total income on the first of October $1247.30. Included in the expenditures are 24 pairs of game shoes, amounts up into the early $s. Other items picked at random from the long list of expenses include equipment, $56, the cost of the game receipts of the Penn-Youngville game to Youngville, about $156.

These figures do not include DuBois, Jamestown, Bradford, Guy or Corry games because they were played after the first October.

Speed Master to Challenge Davis On Sat.

By HERB ALTSCHELL
Philadelphia, Nov. 14—(AP)—Schneider, Pennsylvania's test halfback, drew a starting assignment today for the Army-Navy football clash Saturday, adding credence to reports that Penn like Notre Dame, will go out on offense.

Whereas the historic scoreless tie between the Army and the Penn State Nittany Lion was ended by a defensive battle, the game in the lineup presages a potential offensive duel pitting the speed of the Penn State halfback against that of the Army's.

With Schneider, a 165-pounder who ran wild against Columbia last week in the backfield, Coach George Munger will be presenting his strongest offensive combination.

The Lancaster, Pa., speedster is the son of Stumpy Minski, All-American candidate runningback who scored nine touchdowns in 1945. Allen, war veteran fullback who has tallied eight times, and Ernie Falcone, one of the sharpshooters in college football.

Schneider, who replaces Bob Barber at the tailback post in the Penn single wing attack, will be replacing his first game of the season.

Army remained a two-touchdown favorite but more and more reports are coming in from the Penn bandwagon.

Lou Little, a Penn alum, saw his Columbia team unseeded 48-14 by Army and 41-6 Penn. The scores are a possible and in field explosion.

"I look for a game of substantial scoring and thrills," Little said. "Both rivals have the ability to break loose at any time, and Penn can do it early, they're going to be mighty tough for me or anyone else to beat."

But when it came to predicting a winner, Little like most others, asked to be counted out.

SUNSHINE OR RAIN! Want Ads beat again and again!

Hoopie Answers a Question: "Did He Ever See a Game?"

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
Father of Interference
Egad! One of my multitude of readers writes to ask what I deem a pertinent question. To quote him: "Did you ever see a football game?"

Heh, heh! Isn't that rich? Did I, Major Amos Barnaby Hoopie, who originally suggested the game of Rugby to the Harvards, ever see a football game? Pardon me while I take time out for a fit of laughter! (Editor's Note: Come on, come on, let's go to press!)

I was there when Terry of Yale ran 115 yards from scrimmage against Wesleyan in 1884. I was very young, however.

When Art Poe of Princeton seized a fumble and ran an even 100 yards against Yale in 1898, your correspondent was right on the spot, pencil in hand, jotting down notes and I O U's.

Who was there when Tom Shevlin of Yale carried a kickoff 95 yards against Columbia in 1908? Who was that gentleman under the grandstand when C. W. Savage of Oberlin ran 100 yards from scrimmage against Michigan in 1922? That, my friends, was Hoopie!

Yes, and I was on the spot in

Cagers Hold Practice At Y

The Bakers Clearers cagers, announced Manager Don Lunquist, members of the Y City Basketball League, will hold a practice session at the YMCA tonight, the gym being reserved from 7:00 to 8:00 o'clock for this purpose. The following players are requested to be present: Warme Check, Leak Conroy, Farm Davis, Dick Finley, Bill Lundahl, John Pick, Ray Ritchie, Dick Tucker, and Jim Urbanski.

Following the eight o'clock practice, the Times-Mirror will hold a session from 8:00 to 9:00 o'clock. Manager Tony Tomassoni announced that all men who expect to play on the team this year should be there.

OIL CITY BOY SETS NEW MARK

New York, Nov. 14—(AP)—Earl Black's Cadets went into the final stages of their preparation for Penn with added zest today after learning that the war Department has given official clearance for Army's acceptance of a possible Rose Bowl invitation.

Should the Army get a bid to Pasadena the final decision as to whether the Black Knights will make the trip will be made by Maj. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, sports-minded superintendent of the academy.

Real Game of Cops and Robbers

Twelve-year-old Herbert Bell, right, is the pride of Brooklyn after his brief career of sleuthing led to arrest of a robbery suspect. Herbert is shown at right above, with the bicycle on which he followed Joseph J. Duffy, 19, shown at left facing the wall, after Herbert saw him leave a Brooklyn drug store which Duffy allegedly robbed. Herbert tipped off two policemen during an eight-block chase and stayed on the case until John Feeney, foreground, a rookie patrolman, had suspect cornered and under guard.

The war department made the announcement after being beset by inquiries whether there was any chance the Army might reverse its policy against post-season football games. If the bid is extended, "the way has been cleared for a prompt 'yes or no' decision" by the superintendent, Washington said.

Meanwhile, Pacific coast conference officials maintained a close-hipped "no comment" attitude although newspapermen on the coast clung to the belief that Rose Bowl overtures had been made to Army.

Asked whether Army was going to play as conservative a game against Penn as against Notre Dame, coach Earl Blaik answered with a smile, "I think not." "Our problem is not so much to stop them as to go out and get some scores ourselves."

Bear hunters are urged to wear plenty of bright red and to be sure to tag their trophy immediately after killing.

Fatalities In Woods Sink Army Allowed To Take Rose Bowl Offering

Harrisburg, Nov. 14—(AP)—Even though more than 800,000 muskrats are roaming the Pennsylvania woods this season, hunting fatalities may sink to a new record low, the State Game Commission said today.

With the season already close to the halfway point, reports indicate the record low of 16 deaths in 1936 may be beaten this season.

For the first eight days of the season, which opened Nov. 1, only one death has been reported, as compared with 11 fatalities for the same period last year. This does not include deaths due to

Association Of Teachers Holds Meeting

Times Topics

C. D. OF A. MASS
At 8 a. m. Friday in Holy Redeemer church, a Mass will be celebrated for deceased members of Court Warren, No. 834, Catholic Daughters of America.

CAR RECOVERED
A 1931 Ford car was taken from in front of the home of Carl Hagstrom, 214 North Irvine street, last evening. Police later recovered the car when it had been abandoned by the thief. No damage was done to the car.

FOR RESERVE OFFICERS
The Warren County Chapter Reserve Officers Association, will hold its regular monthly meeting at the American Legion Home at 8 p. m. Monday, November 18. All members of the ROA, and all other reserve officers, are urged to attend this meeting.

NO DAMAGE DONE
An alarm of fire this morning sent the department to the home of E. C. Mead, 12 Russell street. A fire had been lighted in a fireplace but due to a defective damper the smoke poured into the room. There was no fire except in the fireplace and no damage was done.

REALLY INTOXICATED
Times Square this morning was briefly the habitat of a fellow who tired in a red plaid jacket and blouse and two most unsteady legs. He wandered about like a ship without a compass and finally made port in the bus waiting room. Settled down for a siesta, his dreams were interrupted by police who escorted him to the police station where his slumbers could be long and deep.

WORK RESUMED
Due to the scarcity of hides, which has slowed production at most of the tanneries in this section, the West Hickory tannery has been practically shut down for some time. However, today the soaking of hides was resumed and all employees will go to work some time next week. Notices have been sent out to employees and it is stated that a number of additional men will be employed.

THREE IN ONE
It was announced this morning at the health office in the city building that an epidemic of mumps, along with whooping cough is sweeping the borough. Ten cases of mumps have been reported and six of whooping cough, plus a single addition in chicken pox. Those youngsters will have a bad weekend, but think of the child in the borough that has contacted all three at once.

TAKEN TO PENITENTIARY
Deputy Sheriff Sanford Sees and State Patrolman Anthony Vavrek left this morning for Pittsburgh with Harry and Clarence Ferry and David Harvey. The three men were sentenced to serve terms in the Western Penitentiary at Wood Run following their entering of pleas of guilty to robbing several cottages and camps in the county. They will serve not less than 1 1/2 nor more than 6 1/2 years.

TURKEYS ARE PLentiful
Warren folks who so desire to have turkey on the table for Thanksgiving. The traditional fowl will be on the market in large quantities and this year it will be a superior bird that will be served. Every market in town has placed orders for turkeys and price compared with yester years will be a bit upish, but the birds will be here in large numbers. Turkey parties are being planned about the city by various organizations and lucky boys will undoubtedly, as usual, get a big turkey fairly cheap. Incidentally, there will be a lot of the boys who won't lug home a turkey.

Obituary
Unless otherwise stated, visiting hours at Warren's funeral homes are from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m.; 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m.

ALBERT F. QUINN
Word has been received here that Albert F. Quinn, 1460 Ontario street, Toledo, O., died November 8th after an illness of five days and following an operation. He is survived by his wife, the former Mae Tompsett, of Tidouete, two sisters and two brothers. Services will be held November 13 from Collingwood Memorial, with burial in Memorial Park cemetery at that place.

DR. JOHN HADLEY
Oil City, Nov. 14 (P)—Dr. John L. Hadley, 51, who in 49 years as a practicing physician delivered more than 3,500 babies, died last night in Oil City hospital.

He was born Feb. 13, 1865, at Adamsville, Crawford county, attended schools in Mercer county and graduated from Pennsylvania State Normal School, now Edinboro State Teachers' College. After teaching school for a time in Venango and Mercer counties, and near Evansville, Wis., he entered Cleveland Medical College, graduating in 1897, in which year he began his practice here.

Dr. Hadley was a director of the Standard Life Insurance Company of America and a past president of the Venango County Medical Society.

DIED OUT
Less than 100 years ago, the passenger pigeon was the most prevalent bird in all North America. The last specimen died in the Cincinnati zoo on Sept. 1, 1914, and is now mounted in the Smithsonian Institution.

Civil Service Commission Rules On Case

A decision of considerable importance and interest was made by the Civil Service Commission of Warren borough at a recent meeting when the commission ruled in favor of Hartwell Willey on his complaint to the effect that he was removed illegally from the position of captain in the Warren Fire Department at a meeting of the borough council in February this year.

The opinion states: "The unanimous opinion of the members of the commission is that Hartwell Willey was demoted without a proper hearing as provided for by Section 1-A, second paragraph of the Act Number 427, passed by the Pennsylvania Assembly on June 1, 1945."

C. Henry Nicholson, attorney, represented Mr. Willey, and Sidney D. Blackman, attorney, represented the borough.

County Road Work Sets a Record Here

Work on the roads in the county has set a new record this year with 30.5 miles of gravel roadway laid in various portions of the county. The work was completed last spring and carried to completion in splendid shape. At the present time a second course of gravel is being placed on the Morrison Hill road, near Tidouete, and this will complete that road.

A half mile of work is still to be done at Vandergrift Corners and as soon as the air compressor, now being used for patching cement, is free it will be taken to the gravel pit and holes bored for dynamite charges. With gravel blown down work can be carried out in short order.

From Vandergrift Corners to Minister Hill there is another project for which $2500 has just been appropriated by the department. This will mainly be a maintenance job and not a complete construction project.

Employees of the department have established a record for work as in addition to building the new roads the highways have been marked, traffic signs painted and placed and other work done. Maintenance men have about completed the setting of snow fence. There is a need for more fence at strategic places over the county and the state at the present has no surplus of fence to send in to the county.

Restrictions Still Hold Up Telephones

Telephone companies have been installing telephone service, as materials for equipment have become available in accordance with the government order U-2 since early in the war, according to C. H. Springer, local manager of the Bell system.

This prescribes a certain order of precedence for the installation of telephone service. The Bell System companies have been able to take care of most of the orders for service held at V-J Day for lack of facilities, but current demands for service are so large that these companies still hold around two million orders. Everything possible is being done to manufacture and install the necessary equipment to meet all demands.

The government order U-2 worked well during and since the war and the Bell Companies feel that a continuing plan along similar lines will clearly be needed until most waiting applicants can be cared for. Such a plan, they believe, taking into account the local situation in each state, can be worked out with the local regulatory bodies before January 1.

Ancient Mosaic law forbade anyone taking a millstone in pledge for a debt.

Scout Court Of Honor At Beaty Tonight

The program for the Boy Scout Court of Honor to be held tonight at 7:30 at the Beaty School auditorium will be of unusual interest to the area Boy Scouts. The film, "Winter Camping", is to be shown as a feature of the program.

Harry Summers, music supervisor of the Warren schools, has arranged for two musical troupes as another feature of the program. The trumpet trio will include Robert Gibb, Neil Swanson and Kenneth Lundahl. The other trio will include Martha Winans, cello; Gordon Klenck, violin; and Sally Rapp, piano. Sally Rapp will also accompany the trumpet trio.

Judge A. D. Wade will present the Star and Life awards. Judge Wade has taken an active interest in Scouting for a number of years. Council President H. L. Banghart will present six Scouts with their Eagle badges. Mr. Banghart has asked the parents of these Scouts to be present to take part in the ceremony.

The court of honor is open to the public and the committee wants to extend an invitation to the people of Warren county to witness these ceremonies.

George Kennedy, who is well known in bridge in New York, is now associated with the Boulevard Bridge Club in Miami, Fla. He sent me today's hand "just to prove that anything can happen in a bridge club."

Before we go into the bidding, I am going to tell you what happened in the play. Against three no trump East opened the king of hearts, then shifted to the singleton club. West cashed six club tricks and led back a heart. As a result East and West took the first 12 tricks and declarer went down 2300 points—a nice loss in any state in the Union.

South was correct in opening the bidding with one spade and North certainly was not encouraging with his bid of one no trump. South was justified in bidding two spades, but North's bid of two no trump was slightly dangerous.

However, he wanted to tell his partner that his hand was a little stronger than the one no trump bid would indicate. South figured that if his partner had the heart and diamond suits stopped, probably between them they might have a club stopper, but of course he was wrong to reason in this fashion.

A six-card suit may be bid three times. The first bid shown a four-card suit, a rebid shows a five-card suit, and seldom should it be bid again unless it is a six-card suit.

South should have signed the hand off by bidding three spades. Even this contract cannot be made, as South would lose three clubs and two hearts, but it probably would not be doubled.

Duplicate players often make the mistake, even when playing rubber bridge, of trying to play a hand at three no trump which should be played in a suit. In four moment bridge a hand that will make four no trump of four hearts should be played at no trump in order to get the extra 10 points, while in rubber bridge that difference means nothing.

Sealed bids will be received by the Pleasant Township School Board of Education, RD 1, Warren, Pa., to be opened at the regular meeting of said School Board, to be held on the second day of December, 1946, at 7:30 p. m., for the purchase of the following, to-wit:

- 1—60 passenger school bus.
- 1—30 passenger school bus.

Delivery of the above to be made at Warren, Pennsylvania, with all taxes and transportation charges paid, not later than July 1, 1947.

The Pleasant Township School Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids.
